

App. No. 10/709,229

In the Claims:

1-38 (cancelled)

39. (new) A device to increase the horizontal surface of the shower bath comprising:

A corner mounted tray triangular in shape that attaches to the upper surfaces of shower bath walls above the shower head which has a perforated bottom surface, with two upstanding sidewalls contacted to said bottom surface at the edge of said bottom surface and angled front wall connected to said bottom surface at the edge of said bottom surface.

40. (new) A device according to Claim 39 in which said tray is supported on top of the walls in a corner between two walls.

41. (new) A device according to Claim 39 which is attached to said walls by a plurality of screws.

42. (new) A device according to Claim 39 in which said bottom surface has a 2 degrees draft for drainage towards the front of said tray.

43. (new) A device according to Claim 39 in which said two side walls with a curved edge with said side walls being at 90 degrees from said bottom surface with each sidewall having a hole for an attaching means with said hole being above said bottom surface.

44. (new) A device according to Claim 43 with said side walls being 5 inches long and 1 inch tall

45. (new) A device according to Claim 39 in which the back corner of said tray is open allowing easy cleanup and backward drainage.

App. No. 10/709,229

46. (new) A device according to Claim 39 in which each said sidewall has a hole for a connecting means.
47. (new) A device according to Claim 46 in which said connecting means is a screw.
48. (new) A device according to Claim 39 in which said side walls do not extent all the way to the corner to allow for fluid drainage on each side.
49. (new) A device according to Claim 39 in which said tray to is used to hold shower and bathroom accessories above the shower head.
50. (new) A device according to Claim 39 in which said tray is used to hold accessories on upper surfaces of shower and bath walls.
51. (new) A device according to Claim 39 in which said tray is used to increase the horizontal surface of shower and tubs.
52. (new) A device according to Claim 39 in which said tray is used to keep harmful objects and products out of the reach of young children.
53. (new) A device according to Claim 39 in which said tray is used as a removable storage utility for shower and baths.
54. (new) A device comprising a corner mounted tray triangular in shape that attaches to the upper surfaces of shower bath walls where said tray has a perforated bottom surface, upstanding sidewalls extending from said bottom surface with angled front wall attached to said bottom surface, in which said tray is supported on top of the walls in a corner between two said walls and is attached to said walls above the showerhead by a plurality of connecting means, which said two side walls have a curved edge forming a 90 degree angle in relation to said bottom surface, which said bottom surface has a 2 degrees draft which allows the fluids and water to drain towards the front if said tray the corner and with said side walls not extending all the length of the edge of said bottom.

App. No. 10/709,229

55. (new) A device according to Claim 54 in which each said sidewall has a hole for a connecting means.

56. (new) A device according to Claim 54 in which said connecting means is a screw.

57. (new) A device according to Claim 54 in which said tray to is used to hold shower and bathroom accessories above the shower head.

58. (new) A device according to Claim 54 in which said tray is used to hold accessories on upper surfaces of shower and bath walls.

59. (new) A device according to Claim 54 in which said tray is used as a removable storage utility for shower and baths.